

SHAPES AND SEASONS

VOCABULARY		CULTURAL FACT	GRAMMAR
cuadrado triángulo rectángulo círculo óvalo estrella línea punto	square triangle rectangle circle oval star line dot	The shapes have the same shape are written very similarly in English and in Spanish	When some words sound the same and are written in a very similar way from one language to another, these words are called “cognate words” as they are descended from the same language “Latin”
primavera verano otoño invierno	spring summer autumn winter	The seasons change in different parts of the world because regardless of the time of year, the northern and southern hemispheres always experience opposite seasons. This is because during summer or winter, one part of the planet is more directly exposed to the rays of the Sun than the other, and this exposure alternates as the Earth revolves in its orbit.
